

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF GHANA, FIAPRE-SUNYANI

PRESS RELEASE

Our attention has been drawn to a publication in the social media which seeks to imply that the University is in serious financial crisis.

CUCG wishes to inform all our stakeholders: alumni, continuing students, prospective applicants, business partners and all the Catholic community, that the Catholic University College of Ghana, Fiapre is conducting its normal business.

The Catholic University College is not grinding to a halt as being speculated in the social media.

The Ghana Catholic Bishops' Conference (GCBC) at its Administrative Committee meeting held in Accra on 3rd August, 2016 took a decision to pay off CUCG's loans contracted by the GCBC some years ago for infrastructure development on campus.

The appeal to the Catholic Faithful to contribute GH¢10 cedis is one of the measures being taken to pay off the infrastructural debt which is accumulating interest on daily basis.

The Catholic University College continues to offer you the best of quality and holistic education in a conducive environment that you require in a modern competitive world.

CUCG wishes to commend the Ghana Catholic Bishops' Conference (GCBC) and the entire Catholic Community for your unflinching support and contributions towards the growth and development of the University College.
